A soft material to shape, precise tools, an idea that slowly takes form. Here, the jewel is born from your hands, starting from a simple gesture and becoming something concrete.

Guided by Giulia, you will start with a brief introduction to the lost wax technique, then immediately move on to practice. You will work directly with wax sheets, wires, and plates to design and create your piece: a ring, a pendant, or a pair of earrings. From the first idea on paper to the wax construction, each step is clear, guided, but never rigid.

During the experience, you will focus on creating the wax prototype, thoroughly understanding the process and logic of the technique. You will also be explained the subsequent phases, from casting to finishing, to gain a complete vision of the journey, even if the final processing of the piece will be done by the artist.

What makes this experience special

- A comprehensive introduction to the lost wax technique, in a single session
- You work directly on your own project, from idea to creation
- A balance between creativity and technique, accessible even to beginners
- Constant support from the artist, without making the process complex
- A manual, precise, yet intuitive experience
