Within a creative studio shared with artists and artisans, this experience invites you to slow down and work with your hands in a space designed for experimenting, creating, and finding inspiration. Guided by Martina, you will decorate a ceramic breakfast set, transforming an everyday object into something personal and unique.

During the workshop, you will choose colors, marks, and compositions, working on a cup and saucer using various decorative techniques. Step by step, you will build your design with details, balances, and small creative decisions that will make each piece different from the others.

A creative and contemporary experience designed for those who wish to express themselves through color and bring an object made entirely with their own style and sensibility into their daily lives.

What makes this experience special

- Decoration of a complete set consisting of a cup and saucer
- Guidance from an artist in a shared creative studio
- Use of professional colors and tools for ceramics
- Personalized process, suitable for all skill levels
- Professional final firing for daily use
